BA (Hons) Humanities Part-time Degree Scheme

The part-time degree scheme offers an opportunity for those who would like to return to education. You can study for a BA Honours Degree in Humanities, and for those over 21 years of age, no formal qualifications are normally needed.

Level One

Introduction to Psychology (2)

Day: Wednesday Time: 9.45 am - 11.45 am Duration: 20 weeks (2 hours a week) Lecturer: Eira Thomas

This is an introduction to the subject of psychology. This module will cover the history of and the major perspectives used in the field; e.g. the behavioural and biological perspectives.

The module will examine the scientific nature of the subject and how psychology is used to explain topics such as attitudes, memories, language and thought.

Science and Society

Day: Wednesday Time: 12.45 pm - 2.45 pm Duration: 20 weeks (2 hours a week) Lecturer: Patrick Walters

Science has played a unique role in the history of Western Civilisation and yet most history books devote more space to poets, philosophers and politicians than to scientists and engineers.

However, in recent times, the nature of science and its role in society has attracted considerable interest in such diverse disciplines as sociology, history and philosophy. The course aims to address these important issues in a systematic way.

Levels Two & Three

Popular Culture, Citizenship and the Welfare State 1945 - 1975

Wednesday Time: 9.45 am - 11.45 am Duration: 20 weeks (2 hours a week)
Lecturer: Anthea Symonds

An inter-disciplinary course which analyses the construction of a 'British' identity of citizenship in the development of the welfare state between 1945 and 1975.

In a study of the British films, novels and TV series of the period the construction of the white 'British' family and the welfare citizen of the post-war world and the challenges and disruptions to this identity in the 1960s and 1970s will be illustrated.

Biological Psychology

Day: Wednesday Time: 12.45 pm - 2.45 pm Duration: 20 weeks (2 hours a week)
Lecturer: Eira Thomas

This course will examine the biological causes behind behaviour, focusing on aggression, emotional behaviour, psychological disorders and brain damage.

There will be an investigation into the workings of the sensory systems; both visual and non-visual. The development of the senses will be considered, as will the various perceptual disorders. The latter part of the course will focus on learning and memory, with emphasis on the workings of the memory, and its implications on how we learn. This section will also focus on the impact of damage to the brain on the workings of the memory.

Community Talk

"Built to Last? How buildings make history and history makes buildings"

Tuesday 4th October 2011 at 2.00 pm

Lecturer: Keith Davies

This talk looks at the way architecture and history have blended through the ages. From the Pyramids to the Millennium Dome, all societies have sought to define themselves through their buildings. How this occurs and how, although forms and materials change over time, the aims and objectives remain the same, will form the basis of this talk.

We will look at the architect of Egypt, Greece and Rome, the castles and cathedrals of the Middle Ages, the products of the Industrial Revolution, the monstrosities of Hitler and Stalin, and the construction of the present day.

The courses listed in this brochure have fees attached to them unless otherwise stated. Students eligible for concessionary rate must provide a National Insurance Number and evidence when they enrol.
